Okay to Write Another Project To Be Asked Today

Jeff El Funding Probe Resumed

By WILL E. THOMAS

The U.S. attorney's office in San Francisco, after a lull of over a year, has resumed its investigation into the awarding of federal Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) funds to the Jefferson Elementary School District in 1973-74.

Local interest in the matter, which involves the unauthorized revision of an application in 1974 for some $774,000 in U.S. funds was the recent appointment by President Ford of San Matean Edward Aguirre as U.S. commissioner of education.

Aguirre, 47, was the Region 9 commissioner in San Francisco at the time of the ESAA grant to the JESD and it was in his office that the application in question was approved, based on a set of racial figures and a desegregation plan allegedly met the same as those in the district's original, 1973, application for funds, according to JESD officials.

The revisions became known to trustees, they claimed, only when the U.S. Office of Civil Rights, of the U.S. Health, Education and Welfare Department, in 1975 charged the district with failure to comply with terms of the 1974 HEW-JESU agreement.

When Aguirre's Office of Education demanded that the district "show cause" why its 1974 ESAA funds should not be terminated because it had failed to comply with a broad desegregation plan — presumably the basis for obtaining the federal monies — trustees quickly replied that the district had complied with the provisions of the original application of 1973.

The district board wrote Aguirre that "no other plan or revisions to the plan approved on Dec. 5, 1970," has been submitted to the (trustees) for consideration of approval."

That statement, contained in a thick packet delivered in March 1975, to Aguirre's office, claimed that the district had not learned until a year afterward that there had been a "revision" of the 1973 proposal — which was approved by HEW in January, 1974.

School officials said in January, 1975, that they had learned the initial application for ESAA funds had been rejected, but later was accapted after "revision," Trustees said that in each instance the action was without board knowledge.

Trustee Beverly K. Forrester said at the time of the Aguirre show-cause order that the district could not have lived up to the revised plan.

The district almost immediately sought an investigation into the matter and first took the case to San Mateo County Dist. Atty. Keith Sorenson.

Sorenson refused to get involved, school officials pointed out, because he considered the situation "in-house" and should be settled as such. He added that the case appeared to be a civil matter, the JESD officials reported to the press at the time.

Ultimately, the U.S. attorney's office started an investigation, but the efforts there became apparently snail-paced — perhaps because of U.S. Atty. James Browning's involvement in the Patricia Hearst case.

John O'Conner, an aide in Browning's office, was quoted in the summer of '75 as saying that substantial headway in the JESD case had been made.

"We expect shortly some indication will be made of what will happen," O'Conner said. The investigation, he had indicated then, would be concluded by the end of the summer and possibly in late July.

In October, O'Conner

SamTrans Vote To Buy DC Bus Firm Expected

By JANET REINKA

Directors of the San Mateo County Transit District will vote tonight on an agreement to buy Northgate Transit Co. and avoid the likelihood of a long court battle.

Under terms negotiated between SamTrans, the bus company and its owner-drivers, SamTrans would take over the line for $125,000. Bus service would start in Daly City by the first week of January.

According to SamTrans board chairman Robert E. Norris of Redwood City, Northgate officials accelerated negotiations under pressure from SamTrans and the company's owner-drivers.

SamTrans had originally offered $62,195 for Northgate based mainly on an appraised value of $55,000 for the 21 buses in the fleet.The additional $7,190 was to compensate the company for other company assets such as office furniture, bus routes, schedules and other "intangible assets," as well as the value of the company franchise.

At the time the appraisal was made, according to SamTrans general manager John T. Mauro, an exact value for the franchise had not been determined.

Under the agreement which will be considered tonight, SamTrans will pay $55,000 for the buses and $70,000 for the other assets including the franchise.

Northgate President Charles Lucas and Vice President George Ferris, who own respectiely 75 and 25 per cent of the company stock, had instead demanded no less than $500,000 for the settlement.

The situation was further complicated when the state Public Utilities Commission extended to Dec. 31 the company's temporary operating certificate. A hearing on the extension that had been set for Nov. 22 will be cancelled if the agreement is approved tonight.

When the extension was announced, SamTrans filed for condemnation proceedings in San Mateo Superior Court instead of the PUC.

SamTrans says Northgate stepped up negotiations to avoid a hearing in Superior Court and after the drivers increased pressure on the company to settle.

Mauro said the agreement would save the district $430,000 less than Northgate's asked-for price but, more importantly, a long court fight.

If SamTrans' board approves the proposed settlement at the meeting in the Half Moon Bay Library, it would still need ratification by the drivers, who will have to sign individual sales agreements and will be offered jobs with SamTrans.

Action Today Seen to Avoid A Court Battle

Under terms of the agreement, SamTrans would also withhold 10 per cent of the purchase price until the district is certain that all claims against Northgate have been satisfied.

The temporary operating certificate would also be allowed to expire and the condemnation proceedings become moot. Purchase of Northgate will be financed solely through district revenue.

Approval would bring to 15 the number of communities in the district and completes district bus consolidation. Mauro said service will be upgraded both in frequency and in the capacity of the buses on high-volume routes such as those to the BART terminal.

Some new buses will be purchased. The district will use 16 of Northgate's old buses.

There are no guardrails on this section of Highway 1, just off Interstate 280, Daly City

Woman's Three-Year Campaign

Guardrail Battle Nearing End?

By FRANK LaPIERRE

A Daly City woman's three-year battle with the State Department of Transportation over construction of a guardrail on a particularly dangerous section of Highway 1 could soon be over.

Mrs. Doris Callagy, whose car almost went off the highway and over a steep embankment during heavy fog three years ago, appears to have been victorious in the crusade she has waged to have the guardrail erected.

Tuesday, Winten Fletcher, CALTRANS' Design Section director, said his office had forwarded the matter to the Highway Commission with a recommendation that the project be approved immediately.

The Commission is expected to act on the matter either during its October meeting next week "or in November, at the latest," Fletcher said.

"I'm pretty sure they (the commission) will vote the money for the project," Fletcher said.

Mrs. Callagy has insisted for many years that the stretch of highway one day will claim a life.

To date, although several cars have either teetered on the edge of the 100 foot-plus plunge or rolled down the embankment, no one has been killed or seriously injured.

"It's a miracle that they haven't (been killed or badly injured)," Mrs. Callagy said.

The area is in the westbound lanes of Highway One (Cabrillo Freeway) a short distance beyond Interstate 280. Below the highway is undeveloped open space.

But soon, an apartment complex for senior citizens is scheduled to be built.

Nearby there also is open space owned by the Jefferson Elementary School District.

It is not unlikely that one day a car could careen off the highway in the dense fog that usually blankets the area in summer, and kill or maim a motorist, vehicle passenger or an innocent passerby, according to proponents of the guardrail.

The matter of the guardrail has been tied up in bureaucratic red tape for the past three years — since Mrs. Callagy first brought it to the attention of the highway officials.

Launching a one-person campaign, since her near-miss, the usually-quiet housewife began sending letters of inquiries to various state offices.

A half-dozen letters brought six different replies, most contradicting the other, she says.

At one point in the exchange, Mrs. Callagy was told by a highway official that the guardrail had been approved and soon would be built.

Two years went by without action, while motorists continued to flirt with death as they groped their way through the fog in the non-guarded area.

Cutbacks in highway funding; a moratorium on construction ordered by the governor; and, myriad other reasons have been cited by highway officialdom for failure to construct the guardrail, indicate correspondence between Mrs. Callagy and the California Highway Commission.

As far back as July 20, 1973, M. E. Hardin, assistant district engineer for CALTRANS, informed Mrs. Callagy:

"Highway safety is uppermost in our goals. Improvements are made on a priority basis dependent on need and the availablitiy of funds . . . Your request will be thoroughly investigated and will be added to the list of potential projects if supported by our findings."

Mrs. Callagy wrote then-State Sen. George Moscone, who, in turn, wrote CALTRANS.

Heinz Heckeroth, assistant director of Legislative Affairs, wrote Moscone in reply:

"The subject (guardrail) location does meet our guidelines for the installation of (a) guardrail. A review of accident records (from the CHP) indicate two accidents at this location since the freeway was opened in May, 1972. This limited number of accidents has resulted in a rather low priority for the guradrail project."

A similar letter was sent by Mrs. Callagy to Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.

The reply to the letter came from Brown's assistant, Jim Molligan, who said the guardrail would be installed no later than April, 1976, Mrs. Callagy said.

When the deadline passed without a guardrail being installed, Mrs. Callagy repeated her letter to Governor Brown.

She still is awaiting an answer from Brown.

A Hunt For Sub Parents

"I don't really want to take you to the juvenile hall, Jack, but since you and your old man can't get together tonight, I don't have another place to take you. You get it, don't you, Jack.?"

The officer, sitting behind the wheel of his patrol car, speaks reluctantly to the 14-year-old youngster sitting on the passenger's side.

A neighbor had called the police when she had heard the sound of breaking glass next door — like somebody throwing something.

The patrolman had done his best to cool down the family, but his efforts had been futile. So he had put Jack into his patrol car.

"Perhaps they can work out things between themselves tomorrow," he told his sergeant, who had arrived on the scene.

Now he was faced with putting the youngster somewhere overnight and the only choice he had was to take him to the juvenile hall, even though he didn't want to.

"I sure hate to see Jack get mixed up with some of the kids there," he thought to himself.

This is a situation that happens far too frequently. And to further complicate the matter, should Jack have to remain in juvenile

Who Should Get Swine Flu Shots?

Children with heart defects or other physically debilitating problems should be vaccinated against Swine Flu.

And Vitamin C, despite some reports to the contrary, does not create immunity against the potentially deadly virus, according to the county director of public health.

More than 2,000 doctors, nurses and lay people will volunteer their services to operate 41 clinics throughout San Mateo County the next several weekends to inoculate the population against Swine Flu.

According to Dr. James Bodie, San Mateo County Director of Public Health, everyone over 18 should receive the vaccine.

Parents of children with health problems should take them to their own doctor for private vaccination.

Those youngsters will receive two shots, one month apart. The virus is split for this procedure and is not quite as effective, but the side effects are lessened, according to Dr. Bodie.

Everyone over 60 is deemed a high-risk individual and should be vaccinated, he said.

Of reports that increased use of Vitamin C can prevent the illness, Dr. Bodie said, "Vitamin C will not cause immunity, contrary to some popular beliefs." However, he added, it does increase the body's natural defenses. (Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel Prize winner, has advocated use of Vitamin C to prevent colds and has indicated it may have beneficial effect against the Swine Flu.)

Dr. Bodie said he has been informed that more than 2,000 volunteers, medical and nonmedical, will join

Charges Expected In Man's Death

Charges of assault to commit murder filed against a Daly City woman are expected to be changed to murder, following the death of her estranged husband Monday at Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco.

Edward B. Brown, 33, of 300 Citrus St., Daly City, died about 7:30 p.m. — more than six weeks after his wife allegedly shot him in the head.

Police charge Mrs. Antoinette M. Brown, 21, shot her husband with a .38-caliber handgun when he came home on Aug. 31 with another woman.

Mrs. Brown had forced her way into the Citrus Ave., home from which her husband had evicted her and waited for his return, police allege.

She remains free on $1,000 bail, a police spokesman said.

Treatment Varies for Drunken Drivers

By DUANE SANDUL

The question of who has authority to divert from the criminal justice system second-time convicted drunken drivers is creating as many opinions as there are types of booze.

What is happening is that some persons in some counties automatically lose their licenses and go to jail on a second conviction while in other counties they have an opportunity to be diverted from the criminal justice system and save their licenses.

District attorneys, judges, lawyers, the Department of Motor Vehicles chief, the attorney general and legislators are all involved in the dilemma — one so complex it could lead a man to drink.

In some of the state's 58 counties, including San Francisco, Los Angeles and Orange, the district attorneys and judges have agreed to divert certain second-time offenders from the criminal justice system into alcoholism treatment programs.

In Butte, Santa Clara, Ventura and Kern counties, the judicial system is diverting selected offenders by virtue of legislative authority called SB 330, a two-year state pilot project engineered by state Sen. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo.

In some counties, such as San Mateo, the district attorney's insistence that he has no authority has blocked attempts at creating diversion programs.

At the heart of the matter is simple language contained in state law: A person convicted for a second time within five years of drunken driving must have his license suspended for one year.

Prior to last Jan. 1, the only way "around" that mandatory requirement was through utilization of a diversion program recognized by judges and a district attorney.

In some instances, a pre-conviction program was established allowing the offender to retain his driver's license and enter an alcoholism program at his own expense. If he went one year without any trouble, the charge was reduced or dropped.

In some instances, post-conviction programs were initiated with the same goal in mind — retention of a driver's license for a second-time offender upon his successful completion of an alcoholism program.

Now, those programs are being ordered to cease and desist by Herman Sillas, director of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Equipped with an attorney general's opinion, Sillas has notified counties such as San Francisco and Los Angeles that their programs violate the state law which mandates suspension of licenses for second-time drunken drivers.

He has threatened to initiate legal action if those programs are not stopped.

The only legitimate programs which divert the drunken driver from the criminal justice council are in those four counties designated in the state pilot programs, according to Sillas.

"Courts which approve pre-conviction diversionary

Council Eases Up On Center

The South San Francisco City Council has loosened its grip on the developer of a proposed shopping center at the Gellert Boulevard extension site.

However, the action split the council 3-2 Wednesday night and resulted in a heated exchange between the two factions.

Voting against four different motions which will aid Tom Callan's development were Councilmen Dick Battaglia and Terry Mirri.

The council last March agreed to contribute $123,000 for the extension of Gellert Boulevard from Westborough Boulevard to Roundtree Way. The shopping center will be built on the extension.

However, the city's participation was contingent upon Callan's securing a national retail department store with an annual sales volume of at least $10 million.

Callan had said he was expecting K-Mart to move in.

The council stopped in midstream an environmental impact report before the Planning Commission last week because Callan has yet to proudce proof he has met the commitment.

But Callan argued that unless the city's commitment to build the road is affirmed, he won't be able to get any tenants.

The Cellert shopping center is slated to be the biggest in South San Francisco, with two department stores, four restaurants and seven professional and commercial buildings.

Callan brought it Ted Tronoff, project engineer, and Don Atherton, a real estate broker handling the transaction for Black Angus Restaurant, to the meeting.

Atherton said the restaurant chain won't locate in that area unless they are certain there will be a road that goes somewhere.

He also said the restaurant probably will bring in about $9,000 a year in sales tax and $1,200 ayear in property tax for the City of South San Francisco.

Tronoff said annexation of Daly City and county-owned lands required for the shopping center will not occur until an EIR is certified by the city.

When the council halted the EIR last week, he said, it essentially halted the project entirely.

Battaglia had been most adamant that the council not proceed until Callan certifies he has a major department store for the center.

He had made the motion last week to table the shopping center, and refused Wednesday to take it off the table so that the council could take action.

Instead, Councilman Emanuele Damonte did so by motion.

City Atty. John Noonan advised the council to make clear in its actions that the $123,000 still won't be appropriated until Callan meets his obligation to secure a national retail store.

On 3-2 votes, the council authorized the Planning Commission to proceed with the EIR and to take preliminary actions requesting the consent of Daly City and San Mateo County to proceed with the project.

Battaglia had said at an earlier meeting that Callan gets things in South San Francisco by using the "salami-method — one slice at a time."

"I hope we haven't lost a couple of slices of salami," Battaglia said after casting his no votes.

"It's bologna any way you slice it," Damonte responded.

Mayor Leo Padreddii, however, didn't think the situation was funny.

"The action of this council has taken against Mr. Callan has been so unfair and unreasonable," Padreddii said, referring to comments and procedures over the last two weeks.

Padreddii said the council has essentially accused Callan of doing something wrong before he's had a had a chance to do anything at all.

Mirri objected, saying he merely had some additional questions which haven't been clearly answered.

"In no way are there any accusations against Mr. Callan," Mirri said.

The EIR is expected to be rescheduled before the Planning Commission this month. Once it is certified by the commission, it will be handed over to the Local Agency Formation Commission for annexation hearings.

ADK Week Slated

So that the public may become more aware of the group, members of Alpha Delta Kappa, an international honorary sorority of women educators, are observing Oct. 10 through 16 as the first of what is hoped to be annual Alpha Delta Kappa week.

Chartered in 1947, Alpha Delta Kappa achieved international status in 1955. Its purpose includes altruistic endeavors of many kinds ranging from uprading education at all levels to recognizing women as a viable force in education.

The Gamma Beta chapter, which was founded five years ago, has members from San Matso, Millbrae, Hillsborough and Burlingame. Since its inception, the group has contributed funds to Headstart Auxiliary and Special Olympics. It also contributes to scholarships and grants for members who wish to work toward a higher degree or do research.

Pacifica Council-Planners Patch-up Fails

The shaky relationship between Pacifica's City Council and the Planning Commission deteriorated further last week during a two-hour meeting called to heal the breach.

Mayor Janice Fulford slammed the Commission, saying they "wasted everyone's time" and Councilman Nick Gust said a decision reached by the Planning Commission the night before "had turned my stomach."

Gust was the one who originated the joint session after learning that Planning Commissioner Jim Harrison had called the Council "a bunch of asses."

The two main issues causing the conflict centered on the fact that Planning Commission representatives to Council meetings are not given a chance to speak when planning matters are on the agenda and the Council's contention that the public is not listened to when the Commission holds public forums on Environmental Impact Reports.

"The Commission's attitude towards the EIRs has been extremely negative. The forums haven't been handled properly. That is why when these matters come before the Council your decisions are reversed," Fulford told the six Commissioners present.

Fulford said that the developer's time, as well as the Commission's and the Council's, was wasted when the Planning Commission does not adequately observe public comments.

"You do not respond to it. Comments are made, the chairman says 'thank you very much' and you go on to the next item," Fulford charged.

City Atty. Gloria Scheid — not present — also received a slap on the wrist when Commissioner Ellie McGuire grasped a microphone and told the mayor, "I think you should put the responsibility for those areas (where the Commission is inadequate) right back at your City Attorney who sits through the meetings and should be advising us if we are not properly responding. We think we are unless she tells us to the contrary."

Gust said that the Planning Commission approved the Amused Carrot (a food cooperative on Palmetto Avenue) use permit "without making it mandatory that the owner has to provide parking" while rejecting developer Gil Ander's project because of inadequate parking.

Councilman Mark Savage took an opposite tack to Gust, saying that he (Savage) wants to encourage the small businessman by granting variances.

Savage then let everyone know where he stood on the growth/no-growth controversy by making the following statement.

"I want the Planning Commission to be extremely strict," he began, "on projects that are going to bring in more people, more schoolchildren and more service-oriented needs.

"The minute you get a kid in school we cannot tax that house enough to provide the services that are necessary. Now when you are talking about a business you are talking about extra sales tax, nothing that's going to cost the city money.

"Pharmacies, even motels (Farber's and Gust's lines of business), that's all plus stuff, that's all to the city's benefit.

"But we have laid down year after year for the developer to put up row after row of houses and we cannot provide adequate police protection, fire service, sewage treatment, storm drains, roads, street lights or any other thing and I would like that kind of development to stop."

Both Farber and Gust expressed praise and sympathy for the Planning Commission, with Gust acknowledged that the Commission "has to sit up there and be criticized on every project that comes before them. I can understand the burden that they have."

Farber said that the credentials of Pacifica's Planning Commission could be "stacked up against any in the county — because we've taken special care not to have a particular group stacked onto the Commission like some of our sister cities have."

Back on the subject of Environmental Impact Reports, Commissioner Lee Forster said there were people who did a disservice to the EIR concept.

"EIRs are informational documents — that's all. They are not a battlefield and we have the privilege of placing different interpretations upon the document. If I consider the information is adequate, it's adequate," he said.

Mayor Fulford told Forster that he may call it a battlefield, but "it is a public forum when the EIR is being considered."

Earlier, Fulford said that the City Council has every right to turn down a building application on general policy grounds relating to health, safety and welfare.

Saying that the city should develop some kind of policy, Farber said that "we should have enough guts — like the city of Petaluma — and say we are only going to allow 500 houses to be built a year. If we have three people on the Council who are prepared to go out on a limb and make that kind of concrete suggestion it would save our staff thousands of dollars.

"It would also save the Planning Commission from having ulcers. If we don't do something like this we have to be prepared to knock our heads together on every project," Farber said.

PB&R: Commission in Search of a Function

Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Commission will continue to act in an advisory capacity on park matters, even though that department has been transferred to the Community Development Department, it was decided at a joint study session held by the Commission and the City Council Wednesday night.

Commission Chairman Harvey Barnett kicked off the rambling 55-minute session by asking the council "what service the commission can be to the city? We're seeking clarification so we can function effectively."

He said that the commission wasn't "upset, bitter or mad" at the council's decision to transfer the parks department as an economy move during the budget hearings. As a result of that decision, parks superintendent Sylvester Duplessis lost his job and is currently working out a 90-day notice.

Barnett said that two functions — the administrative and the commission's — which were not accounted for in the transfer.

Councilman Stan Farber replied that there was no doubt in his mind of the action taken by the City Council.

"The intent was to take the maintenance function of parks out of the PB&R Department. This has been done so it's no longer a topic for discussion," Farber said, adding that he didn't have any "hang-ups" as to what the truncated PB&R department should now be called.

Commissioner Donna Starr said that "this body (the commission) is a place where people can come and have a chance to give information to a city agency." Starr said she was concerned about the usages of city parks, rather than their development.

Mayor Janice Fulford said that it would be possible for the commission to advise the Community Development Department while councilman Nick Gust added that the commission "should stand as it is."

Later in the study session Barnett said that the commission had determined that a skating rink was the highest priority need for Pacifica. He said that the commission had also discussed community centers but "we haven't implemented any of these activities because we want a clear direction from the City Council."

Noting that at least $150,000 would be needed for a rink, Gust asked where the city would find this sum.

Chamber of Commerce manager Jim Gallagher stepped to the podium and said that the chamber was currently negotiating for a rink.

And Community Development Director Les Clark informed the commission and the council that a site development permit for a roller skating rink had been approved for the community already.

However, the approval was for a project that failed to materialize.

"The proponents of the rink discovered — after going through several stages — that they didn't have the financing to put the thing together. But if someone now wants to start the ball rolling the city is ready," Clark said.

Just before the session ended City Councilman Sidney Lorvan asked the commission to review the recreation programs provided by the city and to evaluate the fee structure.

Trained

Marine Private Delaney A. Edmunds, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Sheffield of 795 Higate Drive, Daly City, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego. He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle. A 1975 graduate of Thornton High School, he joined the Marine Corps in May 1976.

Annual Bazaar

Churchwomen from St. Martin's Church in Daly City work on items to be sold at the annual bazaar, "Autumn Faire," which will be held Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. From left they are Jenny Watson, Pat Cartwright, Marche Yoshioka, Jo Berry and Babette Dominguez.

said he had been instructed not to comment on the case.

Nothing more was heard on the JESD matter until recently when Aguirre was nominated and reports had reached this newspaper that Browning's office was resuming its probe.

O'Conner was contacted again, but referred all questions to Browning.

Browning was unavailable. However, another aide, Dave Bancroft, confirmed that the Browning staff was making progress in the investigation of the JESD matter.

Bancroft declined to elaborate and would not disclose the names of any persons involved in the investigation.

The renewed probe apparently is the result of interest by persons concerned about the appointment of Aguirre to the top education post.

What ever Browning transmitted to a U.S. Senate committee involved in pre-confirmation investigations led Committee Chairman Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-New Jersey, to read into the record at a public hearing on Aguirre's nomination this statement:

". . . After Dr. Aguirre's nomination was transmitted to the Senate, we received information to the effect that the United States Attorney in San Francisco has been looking into alleged fraudulent activities involving the awarding of a federal education grant and that Dr. Aguirre's name was in some way connected with that investigation.

"The staff of the committee, with my approval, immediately contacted the Justice Department and the United States Attorney's office to determine the validity of that information.

"It was confirmed that Dr. Aguirre's name had in fact come up in the course of that investigation. Extensive consultations were then held between the committee staff and White House and Justice Department officials, as well as with the nominee.

"However, after further investigation during the course of the last nine days (the statement was read Sept. 28) the United States Attorney has advised me in writing that he has no reason to believe that Dr. Aguirre committed any criminal act with respect to that transaction."

"The U.S. Attorney did indicate that the investigation was still pending with respect to other individuals . . ."

Williams also said he was "satisfied that we need not go further into this case" and the committee subsequently recommended confirmation of Aguirre's nomination.

The JESD has received ESAA funds for two years since the order of non-compliance was issued. Federal officials have said in the past that each year's application is considered on its own merits.

The second year of funding was slightly less than the $774,000 of 1974, but this year's sum amounted to over $800,000.

Mrs. Forrester said this week the district has submitted each year the same desegregation plan said by the OCH to be out of compliance.

Wednesday, the district's ESAA coordinator, Tom Notaro, hopes to gain board authorization to prepare a proposal for the 1977-78 school year.

Additionally Wednesday, the board will hear reports on the ESAA programs last year and the first quarter of this term.

forces during the next several weeks to inoculate the population.

The first clinic will be held this coming weekend in Daly City.

All pharmacies have posted locations of the clinics for the various cities and the dates. In addition, pharmacies have available registration forms which may be made out in advance, expediting the vaccination of anticipated lines of waiting people.

The vaccination is free. Anyone who misses being inoculated at one clinic may go to another. Anyone visiting in the county, or driving through, may stop for a vaccination, Dr. Bodie explained.

Enlistment of volunteer physicians to participate in the program is being handled through the San Mateo County Medical Society.

Nurses are still needed; volunteers are asked to contact the American Red Cross office in Burlingame.

Nonprofessionals are also needed, according to Dr. Bodie. Those who wish to offer their services for such work as helping with registration and cleansing the area of the arm to be inoculated may contact the Volunteer Bureau in Burlingame.

Boy Scouts will help direct the lines of people waiting to be vaccinated.

Those who wish to be inoculated by their own doctor are encouraged to do so. The physicians will charge only for their services. The vaccine is being supplied by the county free of charge.

Dr. Bodie added that no influenza cases have been reported so far in San Mateo County. The usual flu season here occurs in mid-December or January.

Australia reported an outbreak of flu this summer, which is that continent's winter. However, it involved the Victoria strain, not the more feared Swine Flu, it was reported.

Training Scheduled In Suicide Prevention

Volunteers are being sought for the next training class of the Suicide Prevention and Crisis Center of San Mateo County, 1811 Trousdale Drive, Burlingame. Classes start Oct. 23.

The classes will run five consecutive Saturdays at the center. Held three times a year, they are taught by medical, psychiatric, social-work and theological professionals, and are an accredited elective of many Bay Area universities and colleges.

The center points out that it needs "caring and concerned" volunteers to help answer calls that pour in at the rate of 2,000 a month from the depressed, lonely and confused.

Subject matter of the classes includes communication, counseling and crisis-intervention techniques, community resource and referral procedures and an understanding of depression and suicide and how to deal with them.

Bus

Local fares will drop from 35 to 25 cents and 10 cents for senior citizens and the handicapped. Free transfers will be available to other SamTrans buses. Reliability will also improve, he said.

Northgate began operating in July 1955, replacing service by the San Francisco Municipal Railway, and was subsidized by the Doelger Corp. It later was expanded to Colma, South San Francisco, Broadmoor, Skyline College, the Palisades area of Daly City and Serramonte Shopping Center.

The meeting is at 7:30 p.m.

hall more than 48 hours, juvenile authorities may be forced to file a petition declaring him a dependent and neglected child.

That's not only expensive for taxpayers but could possibly scar Jack for life.

To help meet the problem, the Family Service Agency of San Mateo County has stepped in. It will set up six to 10 substitute parent homes.

According to Don Cameron, executive director, police and other agencies will then have some place to go, giving social workers time to find some badly needed answers.

According to Cameron, youngsters between 10 and 18 could stay in the substitute homes as long as 30 days.

"But the shorter the time, the better for all," he emphasized.

"Our biggest need now is to find substitute parents, people who really care about kids," Cameron said. "We'll train them and we'll assist them and we'll pay them. We're not asking anyone to do this all alone.

Anyone who wants to make a real contribution to someone's life, sponsors added, should contact the Family Service Agency at 1870 El Camino Real, Burlingame.

SPINAL PROBLEMS AFFECT YOUR TOTAL HEALTH

You can have spinal distortion and not even know it. Such a hidden structural problem in your spine can cause seemingly unrelated troubles to appear elsewhere in your body. Functional disorders of the body's organs often occur because your spinal nerve roots, which control and regulate your organs, become irritated whenever the backbone is twisted out of proper alignment. Symptomatic treatment of the distant complaint seldom brings expected results because the underlying cause lies undetected and uncorrected in the spine. If you are not being helped by symptomatic treatments, don't give up hope. Have a spinal check-up to be sure that a hidden spinal problem doesn't exist which would mar your health. Here are 33 reasons . . .

Daly City Troop News

Scout Sign-ups Due Saturday

Registration, for all Daly City Girl Scout troops is scheduled for Oct. 16 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the home of Registrar Molly Abbot, 120 Huntington, Daly City.

Registration completed sooner may be turned in to Mrs. Abbot previous to this date. She is also available to schedule alternate registration times for any troop which cannot make this availability.

Junior Jamboree registration for Daly City Junior Girl Scout troops wishing to attend the Oct. 23-24 event at Junipero Serra Park is at 10 cents per girl, payable to Carole Ann Scott, Daly City Camping Coordinator.

Troop leaders or committee chairwomen are requested to sign up with Mrs. Scott as soon as possible so that all available accommodation will be used.

Brownie Day Reservations are available to all Daly City Girl Scout Association Brownie troops interested in celebrating an Outdoor Biological Instructional Strategy Oct. 30 at Camp Ida Smith. Reservations are being take by OBIS Northern San Mateo County Coordinator Joan Stewart.

Mountain Mill House near Calistoga was the destination of the Daly City Girl Scout Association Junior troop No. 1535, meeting out of Broadmoor's Garden Village School.

Five days and four nights was the span of the fall troop camping outing led by Trish Sullivan and Lynn Hughes of Colma. The leaders were assisted by young adult and lifeguard Miss Cheryl Figone who rated a special vote of thanks from the adult leaders.

Girls attending included Heather Burgett, Deborah and Laura Hughes, Loren Kelley, Allison Leong, Regina Ramos, Jennifer and Vicki Sullivan, Natalie Valdez and Shirley Kelley.

The Balecrest outside St. Helena and the steam train outside Calistoga which was an attraction at the San Francisco World's Fair in 1915 were on the agenda for the local troop.

Heat (of 115 degrees in Calistoga one day) lended to the extended interest in the swimming pool for most of the program interest. Diving board instruction was one of the most popular items.

Transportation was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Chris Burgett and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kelley.

Jobs Skills Class Has Some Openings

There are some openings in the Daly City Office Occupations Class sponsored by the San Mateo County Office of Education's Regional Occupational Program (ROP).

Office Occupations is a specialized trainining program based on individual learning packages.

Length of training time varies because the individualized nature of the program permits students to develop employable office skills in typing, filing, telephone techniques, business arithmetic, spelling, punctuation, and operation of transcribing, duplicating, and adding machines at their own pace.

Classes meet Monday through Friday at a variety of times at three locations throughout the county; they are free to all out-of-school youth and adults.

Notice

Messages concerning distribution or delivery of the North County Post should be telephoned between 8:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. (589-1234) or sent in writing to the North County Post. 205 W. Angus Ave., San Bruno, Ca. 94066.

Halloween Crafts Due

The place is the Sanchez Library in the Linda Mar Shopping Center. The time is Oct. 27 at 3:30 p.m. and the scene is the Halloween crafts program.

The library staff will be providing materials and help in making paper masks and "Trick or Treat" bags. School-age children are encouraged to attend, so that they can use their masks and bags for the Halloween festivities.

What Happens to Kids in Divorce Is PWP's Topic

"Children in the Crossfire of Divorce" will be discussed by Rex Dillon at the third of the four-part annual SOS program sponsored by the San Mateo County Chapter 54 of Parents Without Partners, Inc., Oct. 19. He is assistant probation officer with the Domestic Relations Unit of San Mateo County.

Dillon's main emphasis will be on dealing with child custody and children in a divorce situation. However, he will also briefly discuss the purposes of the Domestic Relations Unit and the duties of the officers assigned to that unit.

This lecture, as well as the last one on "Starting Over Can Be Rewarding" (Oct. 26), is free of charge. It, and the remaining one, will be held on consecutive Tuesday nights, 8 to 10 p.m., at Lakeshore Recreation Center, 1550 Marina Ct. (between 19th Ave. Hillsdale Blvd., off So. Norfolk St.), San Mateo.

Parents Without Partners (PWP) hosts the SOS Program, entitled "Divorce, Disaster or Opportunity" this year, as a community service to help people going through the trauma of divorce or contemplating such. It serves as a yellow caution sign rather than a stop or go in its message to the public.

A graduate of the University of Utah, Dillon has a bachelor of science degree in sociology. Besides working for the Domestic Relations Unit, he serves as a supervisor counselor for Job Core. He is also an adult probation officer for San Mateo County and previously for the State of Utah. In addition, he has prior experience as a social worker.

A question and answer period will follow. Information will be available on Parents Without Partners, an international, non-profit, non-sectarian, educational organization devoted to the welfare and interest of single parents and their children.

Your children need not be living with you to qualify for membership. To be eligible, a parent must be either divorced, widowed, unmarried or separated.

Free Scout Swim Open

Free swimming for Daly City Girl Scout Association girls will begin Oct. 21 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Jefferson High School Pool for all Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts who have a green Girl Scout permission slip and adult pool coverage of one adult to every 12 girls.

That patch of sky blue water in the High Sierra will lure members of the North Peninsula Auxiliary Florence Crittenton Services away from home and hearth for a few hours of fun and relaxation tomorrow.

Mrs. Corinne Beall and Mrs. Marie Poggio have chaired the committee which scheduled this outing to Lake Tahoe for auxiliary members.

MRS. EMILY SUMRALL, president of the Balboa High School Alumni Association, will entertain members of the board in her home on Thursday, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The gathering, billed as a regular monthly business session, will be a mailing party as well. Board members are invited to take friends — "or enemies" — with them to aid with the chore of addressing, stamping and stapling.

Anyone interested in more information is asked to call Vickie Hackett, secretary or Mrs. Sumrall.

MRS. ROZ MARINO, who handles matters of publicity for local Girl Scout troops, notes that troop registration will be held on Saturday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. in the home of Daly City registrar Molly Abbott.

Anyone with questions about the registration procedure is urged to call Mrs. Abbott, 864-1702. Papers may be filed with her on Saturday, 120 Huntington, Daly City.

SATURDAY WILL BE the big day for members of Riordan Guild staging a major fund raising event.

"Spot Light" is the theme of the annual fashion show which will be staged in Chaminade Hall on the Riordan High school campus beginning at 11 a.m. with no-host cocktails.

Mrs. Leland Stanfel and Mrs. Joseph Derich have chaired this show which will feature clothes from McDonalds of Serramonte.

Mrs. Michael Dudley is the reservations chairman and Mrs. Ronald Robles is doing the publicity.

RESERVATIONS TO the Westlake Catholic Women's Day at the Races are still available from ticket chairman Mrs. Robert Gelini.

Mrs. Joseph Potter and Mrs. Mike Millane are the chairmen of this seasonal favorite slated for October 20 at the Bay Meadows Race track.

Tickets admit holders to the field, lunch at the Turf Club and a complimentary race program, according to Mrs. George San Pietro, publicity chairman.

SPECIAL NOTE from Mrs. Virginia Tierney makes mention of the changed date for the October Book Review sponsored by the Friends of the Daly City Library.

For October Mrs. Olga Canada has scheduled an appearance by the Progress Food Editor, Goldye Mullens, who will talk on a Treasury of Cookbooks in the Coral Room of the Westlake branch of the Daly City Library at 10 a.m. on Oct. 21.

A no-host luncheon honoring the speaker will be held in the Brentwood lodge immediately following the book review.

The friends are pleased to report that the Oct. 2 book fair was the most successful fall fair ever, Mrs. Tierney reports that special thanks were extended by the group to Serramonte Troop 148, Boy Scouts of America, Scoutmaster Don Davis, and to Troop 8, Louis Fernandez, scoutmaster, for the help given to make the fair successful and well organized.

The super name tags worn by everyone at the fair were designed and donated by Mrs. Verna Teglia, who, like most very busy people I know, always manages to find time for the niceties.

MRS. OWEN PROCTOR and Cynthia Proctor, working with Mrs. Murray H. Freedman were among those responsible for the outpatients party for the Northern California Multiple Sclerosis Auxiliary. The social gathering was held in the Woodside home of Mrs. Albert E. Schwabacher, Jr.

Mrs. Mary Rudow entertained guests with her singing and piano music.

Among those attending were Mrs. Irene Chessman, Joseph Alioto, Gaylord Correll and Mrs. Pattie Hurd, all of South San Francisco.

TWO MEMBERS of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild have prepared for the guild's busy fall program by taking a restful cruise to the Carribean aboard the Nordic Prince.

Mrs. Virginia Hupf and Mrs. Lillian Bertucci, two of the guild's most dedicated volunteers are sharing stories of their adventures during the two weeks aboard the luxury cruise ship with fellow guild members.

Most guild members are wishing they could store up a little rest and energy for the hectic days of the Christmas boutique which will open on Nov. 4.

Autumn Festival

Members of St. Andrew's Community Church show off some of the handicrafts and prizes available at the Autumn Festival scheduled for Oct. 15-17. The festival will be on the church grounds in Daly City. From left they are Joyce Malsbury, Mavie Kanon, Frank Beller, Clem Radillo, Pat Callagy, Amanda Sims and Dick Futrell.

Three Earn Tenderfoot Rank

Troop Holds Honor Court

Troop 148, Daly City, sponsored by the Serramonte Homeowners Association held a Court of Honor Sept. 29 at the Junipero School.

Three Scouts, Robert Bazlamit, Jim Bunch and Wes Weston, obtained their Tenderfoot Ranks. Troop 148's new Assistant Scoutmaster Joe Mazza held the Tenderfoot Investiture in their honor.

Six Scouts earned the BSA Mile Swim patch at summer camp. The Mile Swim patch was presented to Mark Barichievich, Leslie Beadles, Jim Bunch, Ray Bunch, Jeff Davis and Wes Weston. Fifteen Scouts who attended summer camp were presented the Cutter Scout Reservation Stripe and patch segment.

Gary Glavic earned the Totin' Chip award by demonstrating the proper use of an axe and knife. Joe Mazza became the fourth Scout in Troop 148 to earn the Paul Bunyan Axeman award. Eagle Scout Reggie Freestone earned the leather patch for an overnight Solo Hike.

Scoutmaster Don Davis presented M. Barichievich, L. and M. Beadles, D. and R. Bunch, D. and J. Davis, R. Freestone, G. Glavic, W. Weston and L. Yee a beautiful patch given to the boys by the Serramonte Center Merchants Association, Inc., for the boys' assistances in obtaining signatures on Bicentennial Pledge Scrolls for the Merchants Sign-Up America campaign.

First Class Rank was presented to Mark Barichievich, Jeff Davis, Gary Glavic and Dennis Murphy.

Dook Yee, Advancement Chairman, presented the Star Rank to Ray Bunch and Luther Yee.

Scoutmaster Don Davis presented the highest rank of the evening that of Life Scout to Leslie Beadles, Dan Davis and Joe Mazza.

Eagle Scout, Reggie Freestone earned five merit badges beyond the Eagle Rank and he received the Bronze Palm.

Scoutmaster Don Davis presented a special Bicentennial appreciation certificate to the committee members of Troop 148, and to other adults who helped the troop with fund-raising during the past year.

Fifteen Scouts earned a total of 51 merit badges, and many of the boys also earned skill awards. The Scout also received their service stars.

Ex-White House Staffer to Speak

Former staff assistant in the Washington, D.C., social office of Lady Bird Johnson and at present newspaper food columnist and editor Goldye Mullen will review "A Treasury of Cookbooks" for The Friends of the Daly City Library and their guests Oct. 21 at 10 a.m. in the Coral Room of the Westlake Library, 275 Southgate Ave.

The Friends' president, Verna Teglia, invites the public to attend the event, for which there is no charge.

Book Review Chairman Mrs. Joseph Canada will accept reservations at the review for a no-host luncheon following the event which will honor Mrs. Mullen, to be held at the Brentwood Lodge, 101 Brentwood Drive, South San Francisco.

The editor was born in Milwaukee, Wisc., is married and a grandmother. As an undergraduate at Milwaukee-Downer College of Milwaukee, she majored in Home Economy and Foods and Nutrition.

She also attended Lawrence University of Appleton, Wisconsin, and did graduate work at Cardinal Stritch College, Milwaukee.

Besides an affiliation with the American Home Economics Association, Mrs. Mullen volunteers in community work, and when time permits, follows her interests in reading, plants, traveling, and all forms of music (with a preference for opera and the ballet).

A coffee hour will precede the event.

Among Serramonte High School's many clubs is the Sprockets, a 10-speed bicycle touring club.

Under the guidance of a Serramonte teacher, Gerald R. Maxwell, the Sprockets have logged 59,139 miles since 1969.

The Sporckets have rides for all kinds of riders — boys and girls, beginners and advanced. The club rides every two weeks. Ride range from traveling around the Bay Area to travelling around the country.

Class "B" rides are for beginning and intermediate cyclists and are relatively easy. Class "A" rides are difficult, usually over 50 miles, and are for advanced riders.

CLASS "A" riders Steve Daly, Jeff Lindstrom, Albert Johnson, Brent Burgess, and Maxwell rode 180 miles up to Van Damme Park this summer for a four day ride and six day trip. Camping every 50 miles, they covered some rough country but had a great time.

To become a member of the Sprockets, students must go on three Sprocket rides. They can find out the days of the rides by reading the school bulletin.

Some of the upcoming rides for the 1976-77 school year that are being planned are rides to Tennessee Valley on the Marin Coast, Angel Island via ferry from San Francisco, a San Francisco four including lunch at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, a Hillsborough Mansion tour on October 17th, and others.

THE NEWLY ELECTED OFFICERS of the club are President Brent Burgess, a four-year Sporckets veteran, Vice President Steve Daly, an experienced class "A" rider, Treasurer Jean Unsworth, former Sprockets Secretary, Vice President and President, and Secretary Jeff Lindstrom who has ridden the Napa Valley, the coast, and throughout Northern California.

Other members are Matt Bugler, Michele Daly, George Dominguez, Peter Lenci, Dave Levy, Keith Lindstrom, Mike Madrieres, Karen Madrieres, Lisa Moeller, Diane Rubin and Chris Yamamoto.

If students want to "see the world free," seek adventure and have fun, then the Sprockets may just be the club for them.

Jeff Students Return From Sierra

The Jefferson High School Community Environmental Education Program (C.E.E.P.), taught by Reno Taini, returned Saturday from a two-week backpacking expedition in the Stanislaus National Forest in the Sierra.

The first three days were spent at base camp. The students were divided into patrols of eight or nine.

They learned how to make shelters, personal and group safety, map and compass, first aid which included search and rescue (later used in a search for a lost hunter) and proper use of equipment.

The students had the opportunity to try rock climbing and rapelling (lowering oneself down a cliff with a rope). Many students said it was one of the most exciting parts of the trip.

The patrols were on the trail for nine days. They hiked an estimated 50 to 60 miles. Each day a different member of the patrol was the leader. Also the students spent 40-48 hours alone (on solo). They were given time to evaluate themselves and the program.

The last day was for evaluation. The patrols discussed the expedition. All the students agreed they had acquired physical and mental growth and would like to thank all of their instructors at base camp and on the trail.

During the weekend of Oct. 9-10 Keenan Sowells and Janet Stiff will be representing the Community Environmental Program at the Community Pride Conference in La Honda.

This event is sponsored by the Standard Oil Co. of California to give credit to community service groups in each county of California.

Westmoor PTA Sets College Info Night

Oct. 14 the Westmoor High School Parent Teachers Association and Guidance Department are co-sponsoring a "college information night" for all parents, teachers, and students. The affair will be held at Westmoor from 8 to 10 p.m.

James Wyatt, Dr. Ferd Reddell and a representative for the independent colleges will be on the same program representing the Skyling College Campus, the California State College System and California's independent colleges respectively.

Lehr's Steakery For Fast Service

PHIL LEHR'S STEAKERY, at the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton Hotel Tower, Taylor Street entrance, is a convenient dinner stop for those attending the C.L.O. production of "The Wiz" at the nearby Curran Theater. The setting is elegant, the service swift and attentive..... THE CASTAWAY, Coyote Point, is already preparing for the holiday season. Reservations are pouring in for holiday parties and banquets, and various holiday menus are being planned. Call ROBERTA for information. .....MR. VENEZIA of the Venezia Ravioli Company, which supplies the BAYHILL LOUNGE with their giant raviolis for the current "2 for 1" coupon special, was on hand for the special Friday festivities at the Bayhill Shopping Center and was the luncheon guest of lounge co-owners MEL CICERO and HARRY CURUSIS.....Besides overseeing "Gust's Acres" in Rockaway Beach, which includes NICK'S, CAPTAIN CHARLES and THE MOONRAKER, NICK GUST has always found time to keep in touch with the pulse of city and county activity affecting the coastside at Pacifica . . . AL LEVIE, president of GULLIVER'S Restaurants, on invitation of Henry Barbour, president of the Culinary Institute of America, will spend two days at the institute. Levie, who is the author of The Meat Handbook, has been invited to meet with the two instructors who do meat courses, to review and critique the curriculum.

Enjoy Gourmet Salad Bar at Greenhouse

Dinners at MURRAY LEHR'S fabulous LEHR'S GREENHOUSE garden restaurant in San Francisco include a gourmet salad bar that is actually a meal in itself. It is attractively displayed, varied and includes unexpected treats.....From TONY LICATA, who is always in motion, to NINA, the matriarch who keeps a watchful eye on the entire operation, VINCE'S ITALIAN and SEAFOOD restaurant is definitely a family enterprise. Brother LOUIS and sisters ANGELA and ROSALIND are also an integral part of the hustle and bustle that takes place here daily.....SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S is a celebrity's dream. This elegant Redwood City restaurant has always attracted well known show business personalities, sports figures and politicians . . . Nostalgia: MAMIE CRESCENTI, who is a cook and "general honcho" at YOLANDA'S in South San Francisco's Terminal Produce Center, was advised by your Bright Lighter thirty years ago to open her own restaurant. At that time, she was working at DORIS RUBIN'S Ten-O-Two Club in North Beach . . . The ROYAL CHINA restaurant, located at the corner of Woodside Road and Broadway in Redwood City, is now open to serve you. "The Royal China is not just another Chinese restaurant," says owner MRS. HO. "Our Chinese food is prepared by the best chefs from China." Mrs. Ho, who came to the USA about five years ago from a British colony in Burma, would like you to treat yourself to her Special "Introductory" Luncheon, which is only $1.95. Serving dinners, also, seven days a week. Banquets and take-out orders. Ample free parking . . . LIBERACE, "Mr. Showmanship," brings his bejeweled costumes and effervescent show style to the Celebrity Room at JOHN ASCUAGA'S NUGGET, through October 24. Liberace's productions also feature the LITTLE ANGELS OF KOREA and VINCE CARDELL . . . Indian Summer weather continues to bring a booming business to BARNEY'S CASINO and the SOUTH TAHOE NUGGET at Stateline, Nevada. In preparing for the winter months, they have introduced a new bonus coupon which is worth more in a cash refund.

Treatment

procedures are unnecessarily exposing the public to the hazards of repeated offenses by known violators while they are participating in a program whose value and effectiveness has not been fully determined," Sillas has told judges and district attorneys.

He said that Gregorio agreed with him.

But not evervone has agreed with Sillas. While some counties have heeded the threat of a lawsuit, others have not.

Among those who have disagreed with Sillas is San Mateo County Municipal Court Judge Edward W. Pliska, a former member of the county's alcoholism council, which was instrumental in getting Gregorio to draft the state pilot project.

Ironically, Judge Pliska said in a recent interview that the legislation has created as many problems as it has resolved.

Another disagreeing with Sillas is San Mateo attorney Dick W. Bennett. He has had dozens of lawyers associate with him in an unsuccessful court bid to have the Gregorio bill, SB 330, declared unconstitutional in its application in order to open the way for similar diversion programs in all counties.

(In fact, the District Court of Appeal's ruling which upheld the constitutionality of SB 330 originated from a San Mateo County case.)

Both Judge Pliska and Bennett state that diversion programs can be created despite the Sillas letter.

The intent of the Gregorio bill, according to the judges, was not to preclude present or future programs.

But Dist. Atty. Keith Sorenson disagrees. He maintains that he needs specific legislative intent in order to recognize a diversion program. Sorenson agrees with Sillas' opinion.

Without specific intent, Sorenson said, he has no authority to agree to have a diversion program.

"We need the cooperation of the district attorney," said Judge Pliska. "Judges cannot assume the prosecutorial duties which belong with the D.A. Our position is that we cannot do anything — the ball is with the prosecutor."

Bennett, meanwhile, said that those pushing for a diversion program in San Mateo County are switching "our attack from judicial to political and social. Quite frankly, I'm frustrated. All we can do is bring public pressure upon the district attorney and legislature."

Judge Pliska added, "I'm frustrated when I have a second-offender in court and tell him that he'll automatically lose his license, but that he might not have had he been arrested in Santa Clara County (one of the state's pilot counties)."

Sorenson said, "I still maintain that if the legislature wants to provide for diversion in all counties all they have to do is pass a law. Until they do, I'm abiding by the law."

The D.A. said he believes that he could be held liable if he recognized a diversion program and a second-time offender ran down and killed a child.

Sorenson also disagrees with district attorneys in those counties which have created diversion programs with judges under what they consider their "prosecutorial discretion."

Said Sorenson, "I don't think that the legislature or the people who elect the legislators believe that district attorneys have the power to let repeating drunken drivers loose on the streets.

"Until the legislature authorizes, or until I'm convinced that there are programs which assure that repeated drunken drivers won't repeat, I'm very reluctant to enter into an agreement" for diversion, Sorenson concluded.

The pilot project is supposed to become automatic in all counties in 1978 unless the legislature removes that stipulation.

And according to Sorenson, Gregorio and others are voicing concern about the adequacy or inadequacy in determining whether diversion programs are working. So it might not be an automatic expansion in 1978.

Dog Tags May Cost You More

A recommendation that the dog license fee in San Mateo County be increased by $1 a year to a total of $8 will be considered by the County Board of Supervisors at its Tuesday meeting.

Acting County Manager Max W. Meyer says in a report to the board that the increase will provide an extra $50,000 a year in revenue. The fee for spayed and neutered animals would be one-half of the proposed new fee.

In his recommendation, Meyer is proposing that the impound fee for dogs remain the same, $10, for a first offense, but that it be increased from $20 to $25 for a second offense, and range up to $60 for a fourth offense, an increase of $30.

In his report, Meyer recommends that the implementation of the new fees be conditional on the approval of each city in the county.

Also recommended by Meyer is an increase of $1, to a total of $5, as a penalty for late licensing.

He is proposing that the new license fees go into effect Jan. 1, 1977.

Meanwhile the Department of Health and Welfare announced that rabies shots for dogs and cats will be offered at seven locations throughout the county on Sunday, Oct. 31, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Ernest Takahashi, public health educator for the County Department of Health and Welfare, said the shots will cost $3 and will be administered by veterinarians.

Takahashi said dogs should be under full control of their owners.

He advises that all dogs four months and older be vaccinated, and that the shots be repeated every two years.

The clinic locations are:

- Pacifica — Linda Mar rest area, Cabrillo Highway.
- Daly City — Westlake Community Center, 145 Lake Merced Blvd.
- South San Francisco — District Health Center, 1024 Mission Road.
- Millbrae — Community Recreation Center, 477 Lincoln Circle.

Mugging in Daly City

Two Latino males mugged an elderly Daly City man early Saturday, robbing him of $70 cash.

Police said Leonard G. Rouilliard, 61, of 238 Crocker Drive was out walking on East Vista Avenue near Hillside Boulevard at about 3:40 a.m. when he was accosted by two young men.

The two, both described as being slender and about 5' 10", used a blue steel revolver in the hold-up and fled in a green Dodge Charger, according to the police.

Officer Ed Cota is conducting the investigation.

Two in Car Stopped, D.C. Youth Arrested

Two local women who thought they had been pulled over for some reason by a policeman in Daly City Saturday morning found themselves facing instead a gun-wielding 17-year-old.

Police said Gail Stoller, 21, of Daly City, and Debbie Koontz, 22, of Half Moon Bay, were driving down Hillside Boulevard near East Moltke Street at 4 a.m. when the car behind shined a searchlight on them.

The women pulled over and presumably were waiting for the policeman to give them a traffic ticket. Instead a youth stepped up to the car door and told the women he wanted to see their identification because he thought the car was his brother's, police said.

When one of the women demanded instead to see the youth's identification, he allegedly pulled out a gun and said, "You're lucky you don't get this."

At that point, according to the police, the driver stepped on the gas and sped off. A few minutes later, the women came upon Officer David Zahradnik at School and Mission Streets and told him what happened.

Shortly thereafter, the young man drove by and Zahradnik apprehended him. Police said the gun, searchlight and a pound of marijuana were found in the youth's car.

He was taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Home and was charged with carrying a loaded firearm in a vehicle, battery, brandishing a firearm and marijuana possession.

Deaths

Rites Monday for DC's 'Bud' Duggan

Funeral services were held Monday for Edwin J. (Bud) Duggan, a long-time Daly City funeral director well-known throughout the Bay Area both professionally and in numerous civic organizations.

Duggan, a proud Irishman, died Thursday at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City where he had been chairman of the building fund, just a few months after a trip to Ireland which he had looked forward too all his life.

Duggan, 66, was a native San Franciscan and joined his father's firm, Duggan's Mortuary at 3434 17th St., as a young man. In 1963 he opened Duggan's Serra Mortuary at 500 Westlake Ave. in Daly City.

He always made it a point to know all the clergy in San Francisco and in San Mateo County and was himself a devout Catholic. He served on the building funds of Riordan and Mercy High Schools and was a member of Riordan High School Dads Club, Basilica Club of Mission Dolores, Hibernian Newmen Club, Serra Club, Italian Catholic Federation, and United Irish Cultural Center.

He was also a member of South of Market Boys, California Funeral directors Association, Teamsters Union Local 665, Mission Kiwanis, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Daly City Chamber of Commerce, Daly City Mission Merchants, Saint Francis General Assembly No. 43 of the Fourth Degree of the Knights of Columbus, and Mission Council of the Knights of Columbus.

He was a past president of the Phil Sheridan Council No. 72 of the Young Men's Institute, United Irish Societies, San Mateo County Funeral Directors' Association and the Daly City Exchange Club.

He is survived by his wife, Madeline; two sons, Bill and Dan of San Francisco; two daughters, Maureen of San Jose and Patricia Stanley of Redwood City; two grandchildren; two brothers and a sister.

The Rosary was recited at 8 p.m. Sunday at St. Cecilia's Church, 17th Avenue and Vincente Street. A concelebrated Mass of Christian Burial was offered at 11 a.m. Monday at the church. Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery.

DOLORES E. MOORE

Dolores E. Moore, 54, of Half Moon Bay, but previously a 23-year resident of Pacifica, died Wednesday at a hospital in Daly City. A member of the retail clerks union No. 648 of San Francisco, she was a member of the Vista Del Mar Baptist Church in Pacifica. She was a native of Missouri and lived in Half Moon Bay six months.

Survivors include her father, Edward Maxwell of Boulder Creek,; two sons, John Gregorie of Santa Ana, and David Moore of Humble, Tex.; three daughters, Janis Fratini of Reseda, Linda Carter of San Diego and Susan Clinton of Sacramento; two brothers; nine sisters and six grandchildren.

The funeral was at 2 p.m. Monday at Vista Del Mar Baptist Church. Friends could call at the church at 1 p.m. Interment will be at Olivet Memorial Park and arrangements were handled by Nauman & Lincoln Chapel by the Sea Mortuary.

CHARLES P. BLAKE

Charles P. Blake, 61, of South San Francisco, a printer for Arcata Graphics, died at Mary's Help Hospital Thursday. A 20-year resident of South San Francisco, he was a native Californian. He was a member of Bay Area Typographical Union Local No. 21 of San Francisco.

He is survived by his sons, Stephen J. of Anaheim and Paul M. of Buena Park; a daughter, Gail A. Clary of South San Francisco; his father, James C. of Hayward; three brothers; a sister and seven grandchildren.

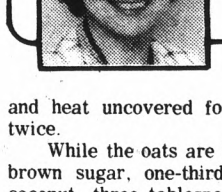
Tasty Nut Granola

Using a Natural Cereal

Good morning, good cooks.

Natural cereal is in great favor these days. As a breakfast treat or as a snack, it makes for delicious eating.

Today's receipe makes five to six cups of crunchy, delicious cereal. Next week I will publish a recipe for some special cookies using natural cereal as a main ingregient.



Nell Norton

TASTY NUT GRANOLA

- 3 cups old-fashioned rolled oats, uncooked
- ¼ cup light brown sugar
- ⅜ cup wheat germ
- ¼ cup coconut, flaked or shredded
- 3 tablespoons sesame seeds
- ½ cup slivered almonds, unbleached
- ¼ cup salad oil
- 3 tablespoons honey
- 1 scant teaspoon vanilla
- A light sprinkling of salt

Heat oven to 300 degrees, using oblong cake pan 9x11x2-inches or cookie sheet.

Measure the three cups rolled oats in ungreased pan and heat uncovered for 10 minutes, stirring once or twice.

While the oats are heating, measure the fourth cup brown sugar, one-third cup wheat germ, fourth cup coconut, three tablespoons sesame seeds and half cup almonds in bowl. Mix well.

When the 10 minutes cooking time is up, remove oats from oven and stir the mixed dry ingredients into the oats.

In small bowl combine the fourth cup oil, three tablespoons honey and one teaspoon vanilla and drizzle over dry ingredients in baking pan. Stir with fork to mix.

Return to oven and bake, uncovered for 20 to 25 minutes until golden brown. Stirring often.

The baking process takes close watching so the mixture doesn't scorch. This can happen easily with brown sugar and honey baking in an uncreased pan. So keep an eye on it and stir often.

When the granola is golden brown remove pan to a rack to cool. Sprinkle very lightly with salt and allow to cool completely, stirring several times.

Immediately store in refrigerator in closed container. Always close tightly so granola will retain its crispness.

Makes 5 to 6 cups.

Campfire Send-off

The new Daly City Area Service Team (AST), Kathleen Rudousky, chairwoman; Maureen Hartnett, business manager; Marcia Summers, group organizer, and Marion Kotta, district community relations, are preparing to greet the Daly City leaders at the Westlake Community Center.

The meetings will be on the last Wednesday of every month at 10 a.m. The team keeps a line of communication open between leaders and the Golden Gate Council to meet the children's needs.

They also assist in program planning starting this fall with the annual "send-off picnic" Oct. 16 at Junipero Serra Park in San Bruno. A full day of outdoor fun is expected for the Blue Bird and Adventure Groups and their leaders.

Le Pacini

About a year and a half ago I read an exercise-diet book, not because I usually read those things, but because the title intrigued me and because one of the co-authors was once one of my journalism instructors at San Francisco State College. The book so impressed me with its unique philosophical approach to exercise that I fully intended to do a laudatory review of it.

But then the philosophical part ended and the sections dealing with the actual exercises and dieting began, and the instant I discovered that the authors expected the reader to give up martinis and exercise while separated from a chair, I quit reading it.

The book eventually became a bestseller. You'll probably recognize the title: "Total Fitness in 30 Minutes a Week."

It was written by Laurence E. Morehouse, a professor of exercise physiology and Director of the Human Performance Laboratory at UCLA.

Aside from the latter impressive credentials, Morehouse is the author of the standard textbook on physiology used in colleges and universities throughout the country, has written sections on exercise and physical conditioning in the "Encyclopedia Britannica," and invented the exercise machine that the astronauts took with them into orbit.

Co-author Leonard Gross, who did the writing, is a hard-nosed newsman who once worked for the San Francisco Chronicle and became a well-known international political reporter.

Having known Gross as an eager underclassman, and having often suffered his stiff grading procedures, I knew that he wouldn't be associated with a flake, and that I could therefore trust Morehouse's revolutionary methods for physical fitness.

Well, I recently finally had the guts to finish the book, and it still impresses me, although I have yet to test its theories in a practical way, and may never. But why deprive you of Morehouse's knowledge.

What has to stun anybody who has ever tried middle-aged exercising is Morehouse's claim that, "Even if you haven't exercised once in the last 20 years, you are just two hours away (the hours representing the cumulative time of a 30-minute-a-week program for one month) from good physical condition. . . . and at the end of 12 hours, you'll be in excellent shape by any standards."

Perhaps even more fascinating than the above statement are the 15 fitness myths which Morehouse apparently destroys. You've probably heard them all since childhood:

1) Never drink while exercising (Moorhouse says that's nonsence, because you shouldn't dehydrate yourself).

2) Sugar taken before exercise raises the energy level. (Bosh, says the doctor. He says sugar taken before a contest can do more harm than good, because sweets can trigger an insulin reaction.)

3) Avoid certain foods before activity. (He says it makes no difference WHAT you eat before you exercise.)

4) Don't eat before swimming. (He says there's no scientific evidence to support the theory, and claims that cramps not only can't cause drowning, but that they have nothing to do with food intake.)

5) Use salt tablets to prevent fatigue. (He says that salt tablets are worse than no salt at all. Says they often cause nausea and vomiting.)

6) Extra protein makes you strong. (He says it's a waste of money. All you need is a balanced, wide-variety diet.)

7) Sleep extra hours before a contest, or when you're very tired. (Obviously ridiculous. You can't store sleep.)

8) Work up a sweat before a contest. (Better, says the doc, you take a cold shower. You should save your energy for the field, not waste it in tiring exercise that doesn't count for the game.)

9) Sweating gets you in shape. (All playing in rubberized suits, for example, does for you is acclimatize you for heat. Actually, when you sweat you lose energy.)

10) Put on a sweater after exercise. (Nonsense, he says. "There is no point in prolonging heat by encasing it in a garment." He says it's better to, "help your body to recover its normal state by leaving off your sweater. When you no longer feel hot and your sweating has subsided, put your sweater on to keep from getting chilly.")

11) Take a cold shower after a hot one in order to close your pores. (Totally unnecessary, because you could not endangering your pores. (Totally unnecessary, because you could be endangering your life. Cold water can cause a constriction of the vessels in the heart as well as the skin, and induce an attack of angina.)

12) Never exercise in the hot noon sun. (Makes no sense, he says, because the noonday sun is actually the safest time to exercise, since it's overhead and you need only a hat to shield yourself.)

13) Avoid sex before athletics. (He says it's probable that the reverse is true, and can cite many examples of this.)

14) Women who train lose femininity. (Dr. Morehouse points out, quite logically, that they become more feminine and sexy because they are literally getting in shape.)

15) Big muscles make you stronger. (He says that it just doesn't always work out that way in the gym and on the fields.)

Understand that Morehouse doesn't just say all of the above. He continually cites experiments he has conducted which scientifically support all of his theories.

Wonder if he's ever done any scientific testing on the hidden properties of gin?

IT'S A CLICHE to which I hate to stoop, but it is true that both Woody Hayes and Terry Donahue are gutless wonders, at least so far as their coaching styles are concerned. The reference, of course, is to that Ohio State-UCLA 10-10 game, a game which might have reached a decision had either coach not been winning to settle for a no-decision.

First, Donahue chose to punt on a situation of fourth down and less than a yard to go for a first down on the Ohio State 43 with 3:38 remaining. Then, Hayes elected to punt on a fourth and four on the Bruin 41 with half a minute left in the game. Then, Donahue decided to run out the clock, rather than taking a chance on two or three bombs.

Disgusting. Games are played to be won or lost, if possible. They are already tied before they start, which means that all of the head knocking and cheers from the stands and anguish are wasted and hollow exercises unless there is a genuine effort by one of the participants to come to a decision.

LOCAL NOTES: Reggie Redmond of Serramonte High is a regular linebacker for the San Francisco State Gators, and former Terra Novan Jim Conolly is also holding down a regular line spot with the Gators.

During that near field riot between Oakland and Kansas City in Oakland at the end of the season, another former Terra Novan acquited himself well. When fans later started pelting the KC bullpen with objects, southpaw Bob McClure was one of the players who was attempting to climb into the stands to punish the idiot East Bay evil-doers. McClure was foolhardy, but quite right.

Oceana, Camino Bite the Dust

Favorites Felled in NPL Openers

JOLT FROM JOHNSON

Terra Nova defender Mark Johnson (25) stops El Camino quarterback Frank Vasquez (10) in mid-flight during Friday night's NPL opener in Pacifica. Terra Nova took a 19-0 lead and hung on to upset the Colts 19-18.

Apparently, the only thing certain in North Peninsula League football is that nothing is for certain.

Four upsets were registered Friday in the first day of NPL action. Heading the casualty list are El Camino, a 19-18 loser to Terra Nova and pre-season favorite Oceana, defeated by Serramonte 21-8.

In other NPL action Westmoor dropped South San Francisco 34-25 and Jefferson stunned Half Moon Bay 18-14.

El Camino-Terra Nova

Special teams, an El Camino bugaboo throughout non-league play, once again cost the Colts.

After trailing 19-0 mid-way through the fourth quarter El Camino rallied for three touchdowns. The Colts, however, squandered all three conversion attempts as host Terra Nova hung on to win.

The Tigers, now 1-3 overall, went 87 yards in 14 plays on their first possession as Mike Kremesec capped the drive with a 10-yard TD run.

El Camino (2-2 overall) fumbled on its next possession, setting up another Tiger score. Mark Johnson culminated an eight-play, 69-yard drive with an eight-yard TD reception from quarterback Daryl Fazzio.

TN enjoyed good field position to start the second half and, after several changes of possession, finally capitalized. Jeff Bartizal's three-yard scoring burst ended a short four-play drive and Rainer Binsfield's PAT appeared to give the Tigers a commanding lead.

El Camino struck back quickly.

Danny O'Regan returned the ensuing kickoff 84 yards for a touchdown to ignite a near-successful game-winning rally for El Camino.

Two fourth-quarter fumbles led directly to the Colts' other scores. Chuck Warren's yard run made it 19-12 after a three-play, 15-yard drive, and then the El Camino defense forced another turnover on TN's next possession.

The Colts took over on Terra Nova's 26 and reached paydirt in three plays. Al Kern's three-yard keeper moved EC to within one point, but that's as far as the Colts got.

Camino attempted to pass on the conversion try and failed, as they had following their previous touchdown.

Terra Nova ate up most of the remaining time running seven consecutive plays before El Camino took over on downs on its own 21 with time running out. The game ended two plays later on Brian Hersch's interception.

Oceana-Serramonte

Wide receiver Kern Herbert paced host Serramonte in its surprisingly-easy victory over the Sharks.

Herbert had scoring receptions of 12 and 24 yards from Regent QB Dan Lara and also recovered an onside kick which resulted in Serramonte's final TD, a four-yard keeper by Lara, as the Regents mounted a quick 21-0 first-half lead.

Numerous fumbles and an inspired Serramonte defensive unit kept Oceana in check until late in the contest. The Sharks finally tallied with 2:36 remaining on a brilliant 94-yard pass play from QB Dan Hinds to wide receiver Jim McCrary.

Serramonte is now 3-1 overall. Oceana is 2-1-1.

Westmoor-South San Francisco

Westmoor quarterback Jack Dorn accounted for 294 yards in total offense and scored two touchdowns as the visiting Rams handed South City its third consecutive loss.

The Rams (3-1 overall) outgained SSF 414 to 284. Dorn connected on 11 of 19 passes for 171 yards and one TD. He also ran the option to near-perfection, accumulating 138 yards on 18 carries.

Westmoor's Mike McLennan, the only running back in the Rams' unique double wing formation, carried 17 times for 88 yards and two touchdowns. Ram receiver Marcel Crossland paced the visitors' aerial attack with three catches for 79 yards and one TD.

South City's Dave Palmer ran for 120 yards on 18 carries and scored twice on short runs. The Warriors are now 0-3-1 overall.

Half Moon Bay-Jefferson

Jack Sanders' 85 yard halfback option pass from Howard Calhoun with 1:41 remaining in the fourth quarter lifted host Jefferson to its first victory of the season.

Injury-plagued Half Moon Bay had taken a 14-12 lead on Pete Welty's three-yard run with 9:35 left in the third period. Neither team could mount any serious threat after that until Jefferson's bit of razzle-dazzle at the end.

Sanders also scored in the second period on a 21-yard jaunt and sparked Jeff's running attack with 72 yards on 12 carries.

Tim Davenport's 28-yard touchdown reception from QB Nolan Smith accounted for the Indians' intitial score in the opening period. HMB rallied to trail at halftime 12-7 on Grant Campbell's five-yard scoring toss to John Galvin.

Jefferson held the edge in total offense 296-268.

South SF Swimmers Win Medals at HMB

Ten "A" medals and 67 ribbons were awarded to members of the San Bruno Surfriders Swim Team at a recent swim meet in Half Moon Bay.

Lyman Daniels, David Glew, and Elaine Glew each received two "A" medals while Sheri Huddleston, Eric vanSchoor, Scott Rolen, and MaryAnn Soto each received one. Out of the 67 ribbons earned by the team, 19 were for first places and 15 were for second places.

Three of the newer swimmers on the team received their first ribbons at this meet. Dyanna Jenkins earned a fifth place in the 50 yard freestyle.

Leslie Gruszie won a sixth place in the 25 yard backstroke, and Anna Jenkins placed second in the 50 yard breast stroke and third in the 100 yard breast stroke.

In the only six-and-under event in the meet, Mike Janney received a first-place ribbon. He also competed in eight - and-under events and earned a seventh place.

Steve Janney, who is eight, won two first places, one second place, and one fifth place. Also swimming in eight-and-under events were Dyanna Jenkins and Leslie Gruszie.

In the ten-and-under events, Eric van Schoor received eight ribbons: one first, two thirds, one fourth, three fifths and one sixth place.

David Glew earned two first places and one sixth place. Lyman Daniels won one first place, one second place, and one sixth place.

Scott Rolen earned one first and one third place while Anna Jenkins was awarded a second and a third.

Swimming in the 11-12 age group, Lee Gruszie was the only boy who placed from the Surfriders. He received two first places, one second place, and one fifth place.

For the girls, Vicki Konstan won a third, a fourth, a sixth, two sevenths and two eighth place ribbons. Cindy Ladas earned a second place while Jill Lucas was awarded a sixth place ribbon.

In the 13-14 age group, Tom Daniels was the only boy from the team who placed. He earned a first place, four second places, and a sixth place.

Swimming for the girls, Mary Ann Soto was awarded a first place, a second place, and a sixth place. Sheri Huddleston earned a second, two fourths, and an eighth place. Kristie Kohtz won a first, a fourth, and a fifth place ribbon.

Elaine Glew, Chris Johansen, and Karen Kirk represented the Surfriders in the 15-18 age group. Elaine earned three first places in the three events that she swam. Chris received three firsts, a second, and a third place ribbon while Karen won two second places and one third place.

The Surfrider Swim Team practices Monday through Friday at Crestmoor High School from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Anyone interested should contact Maureen Glew at 583-2080.

Westlakers Tied For Second Spot

Mel's Westlakers moved in to tie for second place in the "Big League," sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department. They defeated the Glen Club 13-2 with the hitting and pitching of Jim McCarthy, who collected three hits and three RBI's.

John Stack went 4-5 for the Westlakers with a home run. The Westlakers will play the Regal Selects in a play off game for second place.

The Squeeze Inn beat Serra Stereo 11-3. Steve Potter led the way for the champs of the Big League as he went two for three and had two RBI's.

The Glen Club beat Mayta and Jensen 5-1 as Rich Nelson pitched a fine game and was backed up by good defense. Paul Breinings and Phil Hunter did the hitting with two hits each.

Gas Leak Causes Evacuation in SSF

A chlorine gas leak at a South San Francisco paint factory forced the evacuation of more than 50 employes and kept firefighters busy for four hours last Wednesday afternoon.

The leak at the International Paint Co., 220 Linden Ave., was reportedly caused by a mixing tank that somehow got too hot.

Fire Chief Lawrence Toellner said company employes stood guard at the plant throughout the night and the fire department was on standby in case temperatures in the tank shot up to dangerous levels again.

The leak was reportedly "under control" this morning.

Four thousand pounds of carbon dioxide dry ice were trucked to the plant from Moffet Field in Mountain View about 3 p.m. to cool down the over-heated tank.

Toellner said the tank was packed in ice all night.

The South San Francisco Fire Department was called to the plant at 1 p.m. after employes spilled out into the street to escape the smelly and potentially toxic gas.

The fire chief and several fire marshals were attending the city's annual fire prevention luncheon when the call came in.

Mutual aid rescue units from San Bruno, Daly City, Brisbane and San Mateo were called in but no employes sought their assistance.

Toellner said South San Francisco crews didn't leave until 5:15 p.m.

Several firefighters spent the afternoon on the roof of the building opening skylights to ventilate the gas-filled, block-long plant.

Other firefighters equipped with gas masks and oxygen tanks and escorted by two company chemists entered the factory to get a closer look at the tank causing the problem.

Factory chemist David Patterson said that the chlorine gas was caused by a "local hot spot" that formed in the tank.

What caused the hot spot was not explained.

The bottom of the tank at the time the fire department arrived, Toellner said, was at least 500 degrees.

The gas, Patterson said, generated from the heat reaction was "unpleasant" but employes were free of danger as soon as they were evacuated from the plant.

"It only began to get frightening," Patterson said.

However, several employes said at least one person went on his own to the hospital for emergency treatment.

Another employe, Mike Forker of Concord, said he was going to seek treatment for burns on his neck.

Forker said he was operating the tank from which the gas leak originated.

When the employes got their first strong whiff of the potent gas at 11:30 a.m. they alerted supervisors and immediately evacuated, he said.

An hour and a half after fire crews arrived, Patterson said the tank had been "substantially cooled off."

However, Toellner said that the tank was still at least 200 degrees when the fire department left the scene.

Company officials told Toellner that they couldn't consider the tank safe until it was 150 degrees or less.

SSF Passes Budget Amid Council Clash

A $11,778,898 budget for 1976-77 has been adopted by the South San Francisco City Council on a split 3-2 vote.

The final budget adopted by the council leaves the city with a $19,042 spending margin, slightly better than the $9,640 in the draft budget approved in August.

But as they have in the past, the councilmen again clashed over how it should have been done.

The council voted to sell $175,000 in property to balance the budget.

Councilman Dick Battaglia voted against that move in August and Councilman Emanuele Damonte joined him Wednesday night when the final budget was under consideration.

Battaglia called it a "fiscally unsound and irresponsible move."

He said he has disagreed with selling property to balance the budget ever since it was proposed by Acting City Manager Frank Addiego during budget hearings.

The councilman said the council won't have property to sell next year and balancing the budget will be even more difficult than this year.

Damonte agreed that selling property is not a sound way to finance the city.

Mayor Leo Padreddii, however, objected, saying that the only other way to have reduced the budget was to lay off employes or to eliminate services provided to residents.

Battaglia said the council could have saved $100,000 by eliminating a fire department minimum manning requirement. The council established the requirement several years ago that fire fighters on sick leave will be replaced by off-duty fire fighters so that the force is never below 22 employes on any day.

Councilman Terry Mirri said he believes the budget is indeed fiscally sound. It's just that the council used a different kind of asset this year to make ends meet, he said.

"We've cut out thousands and thousands and thousands of dollars from this budget," Mirri said. "Citizens recognize the effort this council is trying to make."

Eighty per cent of the budget, Padreddii said, is for employe salaries.

"The only thing we could have done is to get rid of some of our property," Padreddii said.

Damonte said it should serve as a warning that next year things won't be so easy.

Adult Flag Football Returns to Pacifica

The 1976 edition of the Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department Adult Flag Football League got underway recently with the Daly City Flyers coming back to defend their title.

Also the league runner-up, Sun Valley Dairy, has returned with a much stronger passing attack.

Other teams in the league this year include: Badd Azz (Pacifica), Raiders (San Bruno), Red Devils (Pacifica), Shoe Fair (Burlingame) Sierra Lumber (Pacifica) and Wild Turkeys (Pacifica.

Al Koetz ran for two touchdowns and teammates Don Giovannetti, Joe Medeiros, Art Amador and Dale Baldisseri rambled for one touchdown each as Shoe Fair Rogues splintered Sierra Lumber 47-0.

The San Bruno Raiders put their act together unlike the Oakland Raiders, as the Raiders walloped the Red Devils 32-6.

Dale Momi, Jim Leius and John Reeves scored a touchdown apiece to lead the Raiders offense. Mack Packer caught a 47 yard scoring bomb to provide the only bright spot in the Red Devil offense.

Sun Valley Dairy picked up victory number one as they creamed the Wild Turkey's 36-0. Ron Fassler scored three touchdowns and Dan Racanelli scored two touchdowns in leading the Dairy club to victory.

Skating Trip Rolling On

Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department will be sponsoring a roller skating trip for third through sixth graders Oct. 16.

A bus will pick the children up at their local community center at 12:30 p.m. and transport them to the San Mateo Rolladium in San Mateo and return them to the community centers at 5 p.m. The cost is $3 per child.

Pick up registration forms from community center leaders. Deadline for the activity will be Oct. 13 before 5 p.m.

Community Center to Start Night Program

The Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Department will be conducting a new evening Community Center program each week.

Adult volleyball will be scheduled from 7 to 10 p.m. on Tuesday nights. This is a good opportunity for neighbors to get together for a fun packed evening of volleyball.

Thursday nights will be children's night which will feature special craft projects, game nights and movie night. The children's program will run from 7 to 9 p.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
(Advertisement for Bids)

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, will receive sealed bids for HORIZONTAL EXITS, CHOPE COMMUNITY HOSPITAL, San Mateo, California, For The County of San Mateo (Project No. A151-003104B)

2. Bids shall be in accordance with Drawings, Specifications and contract documents which may be examined and copies obtained at the Office of the Director of Building Construction and General Services, 590 Hamilton Street, County Office Building, Redwood City, California, upon deposit of $10.00 for said documents, which deposits will be forfeited if the Contractor fails to return the Drawings and Specifications in good condition within ten (10) days of the bid opening date.

3. Bidders are responsible to see that they obtain a complete set of Plans, Specifications and contract documents covering the work upon which they submit a bid.

4. Bids, including Affirmative Action material and Attorney General's Questionnaire, shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished and bound in the Specifications and in accordance with regulations as set forth in the General Conditions, and shall be accompanied by a Certified or Cashier's Check or Bid Bond for Ten Percent (10%) of the bid as noted in said General Conditions.

5. Bids shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo at the Hall of Justice and Records, Redwood City, California, on or before the 19 day of October, 1976, at 2:00 p.m. and will be opened in public in the Chambers of said Board of Supervisors at or about 2:00 p.m. of that day in said Hall of Justice and Records.

6. The Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, reserves the right to reject any and all bids, alternate bids, or unit prices and or waive any irregularities in any bid received.

7. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

8. WAGE RATES. The Board of Supervisors has determined by Resolution and has published the rates of prevailing wages in the County of San Mateo (in which County the work is to be performed) for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to perform the contract. Said prevailing rates are available in the offices of the Board of Supervisors and the Director of Building Construction and General Services.

9. The prevailing rates so determined are based on a 8-hour day, 40-hour week, except as otherwise noted. Existing agreements between the Building Trades and the Construction Industry groups relative to overtime, holidays and other special provisions shall be recognized.

10. It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor and upon any subcontractors under him, to pay not less than the said specific rates to all laborers, workmen or mechanics employed by them in the execution of this contract.

11. A bond will be required for the faithful performance of the contract in amount of not less than One Hundred Percent (100%) of the amount of the bid, and a bond will be required to guarantee the payment of wages for services engaged and all bids contracted for materials used in the performance of the contract in an amount of not less than One Hundred Percent (100%) of the bid.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS,
County of San Mateo, State of California

PRE-DEATH ARRANGEMENTS MADE NOW

Reduce Today's High Cost of Dying

The Neptune Society is the alternative to the more costly involved mortuary—funeral—cemetery system. After 100 years, it is the answer to America's high cost of dying. The Neptune Society provides a simple, dignified cremation service with scattering at land or sea. There is no need for embalming, cosmotology, casket or graves. The Spiritual aspect of death is emphasized. Your Social Security or Veteran's Administration death benefit may cover our complete service. Our literature tells the story of our society. One call or coupon returned to the Neptune Society is all that is necessary.

Sewage Plant Told 'Clean Up Your Act'

By JANET PARKER

South San Francisco has been warned that operations at its sludge treatment plant are not meeting state standards and that it could face a court injunction by the end of the year.

Regional Water Quality Control Board officials — accompanied by a deputy attorney general — inspected the Tillo Products Co. in South San Francisco on Sept. 23 and are deciding now what action to take, according to WQCB official Bill Gingrich.

Gingrich said the inspector told Tillo officials on-site that they should solve alleged violations within 60 days.

The city's acting director of public services, Bob Yee, said the city had not yet received formal notice from the WQCB as a result of the Sept. 23 inspection.

Tillo — situated on San Francisco Bay near the airport — is a plant contracted by South San Francisco and San Bruno to turn sewage sludge into a soil conditioner.

The WQCB issued the two cities and Tillo a clean-up and abatement order last year.

Although there have been some improvements, Gingrich said, WQCB inspectors believe the improvements are not sufficient.

The most recent inspection was a sign, Gingrich said, that stronger measures are being considered.

"We just couldn't wait any longer," Gingrich said.

"They operate for a while right and then they don't," Gingrich said. "It's been an up and down situation."

As far as the WQCB is concerned, Gingrich said, the two cities and Tillo Products still are in violation of the 1975 clean-up and abatement order.

He said a deputy attorney general usually accompanies WQCB staff on an inspection only when litigation against the violator is likely.

"When it reaches the critical stage, we take the attorney general with us," Gingrich said.

WQCB staff also inspected Tillo Products on Aug. 9 and 12 and delivered reports to both city councils.

Gingrich said the problem generally involves the disposal of rice hulls used in the sludge treatment process.

A report prepared by WQCB Engineer W. R. Macke for the Aug. 9 inspection revealed that rice hulls were piled up and floating on the San Bruno Canal and that there was no evidence of recent clean-up activity.

On Aug. 12, Macke inspected the facility again and reported rice hulls blowing into San Bruno Canal as well as other sludge treatment problems.

WQCB Executive Officer Fred Dierker ordered the city to reply to the violations in 15 days.

Acting City Manager Frank Addiego responded that the overflow of sludge into the bay was due to a malfunctioning centrifuge unit at the treatment plant, a problem that has been resolved.

He also said Tillo has been removing hulls from the bay for six months.

Yee said a permanent solution to the sludge problem will come with implementation of a Solids Waste Management Study. However, construction of facilities proposed in that study is not expected until late next year.

"If the water quality people can't wait another year, we will have to work something out," Yee said.

Yee said conditions at the Tillo Co. have substantially improved since the clean-up and abatement order.

"The whole point is they want us to complete it today," Yee said. Neither Tillo or the city has the money to make immediate improvements, he added.

"We do have a plan and we are trying to get a permanent solution to meet the problem," Yee said.

He said the city is just as concerned as WQCB officials about possible pollution.

Tillo Vice President Dave Westerbake said the company has built retaining walls with the soil conditioner in recent months to keep the rice hulls from blowing across the canal.

Strong winds that blow across the Tillo land in the direction of the bay will always cause some rice hulls to be scattered, he said.

Until the facilities in the Solid Waste Management Study are constructed, a permanent solution is unlikely, he said.

Gingrich said the WQCB will determine what action it will take at the end of November.

A court injunction, he said, would force Tillo to close down until the problems are resolved to the WQCB staff's satisfaction.

A public hearing before the WQCB is also possible, Gingrich said.

'Baggage Burglar' Bagged by Sheriff

Ronny Franklin, 70, is a man of many names but but no known abode, according to Sheriff's Deputy Larry Hefner.

In addition to "Bob Dillon," "Fred H. Hanson," "Douglas," "Ford" and "Fontaine," Hefner reported this morning, Franklin is also known to police as "the baggage burglar."

And Friday, according to Hefner, he tried once too many times.

Hefner said he received a report the "baggage burglar" was leaving the Greyhound bus depot in San Francisco International Airport at 2:40 p.m. Hefner met one bus. No Ronny.

As the second bus pulled up, Hefner, in plain clothes, said he saw Ronny Franklin, nattily dressed in a white suit and a feather in his hat, get out. He walked directly to the baggage claim area of American Airlines in the south terminal, according to Hefner, and picked up two pieces of luggage.

Going out to a bus, the officer reported, Franklin noticed it had a chartered sign on it. He walked to the carousel, picked up two more pieces of luggage and placed them next to the first two. Then he picked up two more and hailed a cab.

The cab was just starting to pull away when the deputy stopped it, he reported.

Franklin hotly protested he had never been arrested before, but Hefner pulled out a San Francisco police mug shot of him and a "rap sheet" dating back to 1929.

As Franklin was taken to the county jail in Redwood City for possession of stolen property, the luggage was returned to the rightful owners.
